Client-oriented. Customer-focused. Cutting-edge. Cost-effective.
We'll provide fast, successful solutions to your organization's challenges.

We turn your ideas and challenges into impactful results.

PowerTrain was founded in 1994 as a woman-owned, small business. Since then, we have supported thousands of government and commercial clients on a wide variety of human performance initiatives. In a rapidly evolving industry in which technological adaptability and innovation are critical, we are proud to be celebrating over 22 years in the business! As evidenced by the effectiveness of our training in quantified evaluations and our numerous awards, PowerTrain develops powerful training.

Our creative, multidisciplinary staff is the best in the business.

Our team of instructional designers, graphic artists, and programmers are here to assist you. Much of our staff and managers have worked together for over 20 years! We know each other, like each other, and are committed to supporting a creative, innovative, and flexible work environment that is focused on customers, quality, and learning.

You'll get exceptional service. Every time.

PowerTrain's founders, owners, and senior managers who scope and plan your work are the same folks who are involved in the day-to-day efforts to create your products and deliver your services. There is no middle man at PowerTrain; the manager you talk with at the beginning of the project creates and delivers the final product.

"By leveraging the expertise and creativity of the PowerTrain team, ODI has enjoyed spectacular feedback, support, and utilization by Federal agencies across the board. PowerTrain performed exceptionally... Their team was professional, experienced, highly-skilled, and friendly. They bent over backwards to meet the difficult expectations we required for this product. I have never received better service from a vendor than I did from PowerTrain. I would not hesitate to work with PowerTrain on another project. They were absolutely fabulous."

—Bruce Stewart, ODI Training Director

"As the Director of the E-Gov initiative, GoLearn.gov, I have been using PowerTrain for the past 5 years to support the GoLearn.gov knowledge portal. Critical to the success of this initiative has been Powertrain's ability to analyze complex technical problems and to deliver solutions that eliminate those problems... PowerTrain has repeatedly demonstrated a unique ability to develop cost-effective and timely training materials that are specifically targeted to achieve the performance objectives of a range of audience levels."

—William Peratino, USALearning Director
